1. Welcome, Introductions, Thanks - Adam Stein

- Adam thanked Jennifer Boycourt and Shannon Damron for organizing the band's first Block Party to end the first week of band camp, and called it an incredible time. Happy Mr. Ende is here. Hello to Mattea.

2. Treasurer's Updates - Sam Kilkus

- Sam noted that Sandy has been playing around with QuickBooks and Quicken to see which works better for the boosters' purposes. Sandy says she's creating labels all over again with Quicken to compare one month between the two. Sandy noted that she has tried out another site, MoneyMinder, which is specifically geared towards nonprofit treasurers. Quicken would be the cheapest to use, but she'll provide updates in the future about her testing of the products.

3. Old Business - Adam Stein

- Adam said the photo collage still needs to be printed and framed and he'll take care of this once camp is complete.
- Adam appreciates all the work that went into this budget planning process. We have had a few extra costs since the adoption of the budget for various reasons, but we will use what we've learned this cycle to better plan for future years.

4. New Business - Adam Stein

- Adam said the golf cart died during the first Tuesday of band camp and he opened a discussion about whether the boosters should look at fixing the cart or replacing it. Anne Thompson's stepson has taken a look at it. Meanwhile, she has also looked at new golf carts and Sam has checked out replacement motors. Adam said the problem is unclear. Crystal Neal suggested looking into buying a new one, because it would come with a warranty and a regular maintenance schedule.
- Guard staffing update - Mattea is being offered the director's position. Nico is shifting to an instructor position. Tyler Ende said some contracting needs to be worked out to accommodate this. Mattea says she's very excited. "I just want to be a part of it." Mattea left the room as specifics of the position were discussed by the board, with contract changes approved by the board unanimously. Tyler added that he will do some discovery work on the possibility of having a volunteer guard assistant.
- Band Fee Scholarships Discussion - Sam said there have been three requests for band fee scholarships - all three are eligible. Stephanie Mangino moved to approve three applications, which the board approved unanimously.

- Tyler said he's considering having the band participate in two events on Nov. 1 - the VBODA Marching Assessment at Liberty High School in Bealeton, and Freedom High School competition in Loudoun County, which features many of the region's 6A bands.
